I. Thanks from MusicTeacherTools.com

Thank you for purchasing one of our MusicEd fonts! We hope that you find the MusicEd fonts fun, easy to use, and fitting for your publishing needs. Please take a moment to read the following (especially the End User License Agreement (EULA)).

II. Installation instructions

You've downloaded a .zip file that contains fonts. Fonts are not programs. They do not have executable files or installers. Instead, each operating system has its own method of installing TrueType fonts. Here are some links to web search results on how to install fonts on the platforms below:

- Windows
- Mac

Again, the .ttf files included in the .zip are fonts, not programs. There is no installer. Being fonts, they are compatible with ALL platforms that can use TrueType fonts.

III. Character Map

IV. Frequently asked questions

Q: How do I get started with Music Ed?

A: Visit The Music Ed How To Video on YouTube to view the video for a walkthrough of the initial installation and getting started with MusicEd.

Q: Can I use Music Ed to create my own materials to sell on TeachersPayTeachers.com?

A: As long as your materials don't contain the Music Ed font files themselves via embedding that allows for the end user to extract them in useable form, yes you may. Many of our users have created materials to sell on TeacherPayTeachers.com and we love to see Music Ed put to use this way.

Q: I'm a publisher and would like to use one or all of the Music Ed fonts Can I use Music Ed fonts in my publication. Does the single user license permit this?

A: No. You need a custom license. Contact us at musicteachertools@gmail.com for more information.

Q: Am I allowed to install my copy of Music Ed on the computer my district gives me for work?

A: If it meets with provision #2 of the EULA (section V. below), yes. Otherwise, no.

Q: My district bought a site license for Music Ed. Does this I'm allowed a free copy as a single-user license?

A: No. It means that you are allowed to use it with computers that your district owns.
